marked range should be avoided whenever possible, as above two factors overlap because the speed of pulley in the marked range is higher than 200rpm, this range should be avoided whenever possible.

Values in the table above are for nominal belt width 120mm. For other belt widths, these values should be multiplied by the wide correction factor, as shown in Table 18.